

GIRL FOUGHT FOR LIFE OF A POOF

Miss Krueger Attacked by Brother-in-Law.

STRUGGLED FOR 15 MINUTES

MAN WANTED HER TO TELL WHERE HIS WIFE WAS.

Young Woman Held Him at Bay and Aid Came Just as She Fell Exhausted—He Was Fined $100 in Police Court.

On the slippery slope of a shed roof, in the rear of 1200 Cass avenue, Miss Annie Krueger wrestled for life with her brother-in-law, George Hollman, a plumber, Monday afternoon.

Witnesses say he tried to hurt the girl to the ground, 15 feet below, because she would not betray her sister, Mrs. George Hollman, who was hiding from her husband.

For a quarter of an hour the man and girl fought on the narrow roof, she fighting for her life, he struggling to throw her over the brink.

At the end when the exhausted girl was nearly helpless Mrs. Bridget O'Rourke of 1200A Cass avenue came to her rescue and diverted Hollman's attention until Patrolman John McCarthy, who had heard the woman's screams, came to the rescue. McCarthy arrested Hollman and prosecuted him in the Dayton Street Police Court Tuesday.

Hollman was fined $100, which was stayed until 8 o'clock Tuesday evening to enable him to execute his promise to leave St. Louis.

In the yard of the second-story flat where Miss Krueger lives with her mother and sister, George Hollman's wife, is a high shed with a sloping roof. This roof is used for drying clothes, a narrow plank leading to it from the second-story stairs.

Tuesday afternoon Miss Krueger was on the roof, hanging up clothes and singing "WHERE IS MY WIFE?"

Hollman appeared suddenly, standing on the roof by the plank.

"Where is my wife?" he called out. "I don't know," said Miss Krueger, fearing harm for her sister if her whereabouts were revealed.

"You've got to tell," Hollman said, clutching the girl's arm. She still refused to betray her sister and the frenzied man clasped her in his arms and attempted to throw her from the roof.

She resisted with all her strength, screaming meantime.

The roof is 10 feet wide. The struggle began in the center. Step by step, an inch at a time, the man pushed the girl toward the higher end. She held to the middle ground as best she could, but his grasp was inexorable and she was on the verge of the roof when Mrs. O'Rourke appeared, attacking Hollman.

Miss Krueger fell on the planks. Hollman bent over her and lifted her in his arms when Patrolman McCarthy appeared.

He seized Hollman and jerked him back from the prostrate girl. Miss Krueger slipped away and ran across the plank to her room. She was exhausted and almost hysterical.

McCarthy took Hollman to the police station. In court Tuesday he admitted that he was on the roof with Miss Krueger and said that he was trying to make her tell the whereabouts of his wife, but denied that he intended to do her harm.

TWELVE SMOKE VIOLATORS

Were Let Off With Costs, but Judge Clark Will Hereafter Inflict the Maximum Penalty.

Smoke Inspector Charles H. Jones caused 12 violators of the smoke ordinances to be arraigned in the Court of Criminal Correction Tuesday morning. Twelve of the defendants pleaded guilty, and were let off with costs. Two cases were continued.

Judge Clark said that in the future persons found guilty need not expect to escape so easily next time, and that the maximum fine would be imposed hereafter.

He said that he was convinced that the smoke violators could be subdued, and that, so far as a crowd of men, the future persons found guilty need not expect to escape so easily next time, and that the maximum fine would be imposed hereafter.

Among the witnesses subpoenaed were 20 engineers employed in the institutions against which the proceedings were brought. M. C. Jones, general superintendent of the Missouri-Edison Co., was a witness, and he was to testify as an expert. The company that he represents has reduced the volume of smoke 80 per cent, and at a great reduction in the use of fuel.

The following are the names of the defendants: Monarch Laundry, A. L. & Sons, Koken Iron Works, Imperial Hotel, Ernest Furniture Co., Bachman & Miller, Planting Mill Co., Fickel Stone Co., Curtis Manufacturing Co., Tamm Bros. Glass Co., Leggett & Meyers Tobacco Co., Barber Co., and Houser building. The case against the Grand Avenue Hotel was continued until June 18. The costs in each case amounted to $10.50.

COURT ROOM CROWDED.

Reviewing the Testimony Against Mrs. Georgia Emma Hooks.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 10.—This afternoon G. T. Fitzhugh, for the state, opened the argument in the case of Mrs. Georgia Emma Hooks, charged with poisoning her second husband, Cerro Gordo Hooks, and incidentally accused by the state of poisoning her first husband, William Atkinson, and her son Harry.

The court room was crowded to the doors of the room have been closed against the public. Mr. Fitzhugh reviewed all the accusatory evidence that has been brought in with respect to all three deaths.

The testimony of Dr. William Kraus, the Memphis expert, was put on again by the state. He related the previous evidence that what he found in the stomachs of Hooks and Harry Atkinson was arsenic and denied that he had said that unless he got more money he would not poison anyone.

PLAYED HIS WAY TO HER HEART

HAPPY SEQUEL TO A CHURCH CHOIR ROMANCE.

CUPID USED A VIOLIN BOW

Wedding of Miss Ella C. Roberts and Dr. Ottokar Hoffman Will be Celebrated Tuesday Evening.

Miss Ella C. Roberts, the heroine of a choir romance, will wed Dr. Ottokar Hoffman Tuesday evening.

Miss Ella Carmelita Roberts of 318 Locust street and Dr. Ottokar Hoffman of Argentine, Kan., will be married at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening in the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer, where until a year ago both were members of the Episcopal choir.

The acquaintance of the young physician and his bride dates from the time when he, as a student at the Washington University Medical College, accepted an invitation to play a violin solo in the pretty church on West Pine street.

Dr. Hoffman was one of the singers in the choir, and the violinist's first obligato to an anthem in which she was singing opened the way for an acquaintance between them.

He was persuaded by the music committee of the church to remain in the choir, and his violin solos and accompaniments became a regular feature of the choral service.

On his way to and from rehearsals he soon found it convenient to stop at "Mas Roberts" home on Locust street, and before the close of the college year he had secured the promise that she would some day make a new home with him.

After graduation Dr. Hoffman located at his former home in Kansas, where his father is a metallurgist.

Miss Roberts continued to sing in the vestment choir of the Church of the Redeemer until two weeks ago, when her father, Dr. Roberts, died.

Her wedding had been set, and Mr. Roberts' dying request was that it should not be postponed.

While complying with this request, the family had changed the plans for the wedding so as to omit the choral services at the church and the reception at the home.

The families of the bride and groom will be present.

Dr. Hoffman and his bride will go to housekeeping at once in his new home, "Mas Roberts" home on Locust street.

Mrs. Ottokar Hoffman, the groom's mother, will attend the meeting, and his father, George West Roberts, the bride's brother, will be best man.

The Rev. F. W. Roberts, rector of the Church of the Redeemer, will perform the ceremony. F. W. Roberts, wife of Sherwood, Tex., came to St. Louis to attend the wedding.

HAIL RUINS WHEAT FIELDS

Reports of Destruction Come From the Vicinity of Alton, Where the Storm Was Severe.

Reports of great destruction of crops by the hailstorm of Saturday night have reached Alton.

At the farm of H. H. Bowen, near Godfrey, the wheat in the fields was laid to the ground and ruined. Mr. Bowen had a crew of men at his home setting up a binder, in readiness to cut the wheat.

Farmer near Brighton says that he picked up several buckets of large hailstones and poured them into his cistern.

The farmers residing in the stricken district figure that the wheat crop is ruined just about one-half.

FERY MONSTERS OF THE CARIBBEAN

Peleo May Go the Way of Krakatoa.

LINKS IN VOLCANIC CHAIN

SIGNS OF UNREST IN MANY TOWERING PEAKS.

Scientists Who Went to Martinique Hint That Greater Disasters Than That of St. Pierre Are Probable.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, June 10.—Scientists who have returned from Martinique are cautious in their statements. With one or two exceptions, they were commissioned to write their opinions for publication in various newspapers and magazines, and avoided interviews. Prof. Jagers of Harvard University said that from the superficial examination of Peleo possible during his two brief visits before the Dixie proceeded to St. Vincent, he could say only that the energy of the volcano and the widespread destruction it had caused were almost the equal of any previous similar disturbance in the history of volcanic eruptions.

"From what I have seen thus far," said he, "I should not be surprised if Peleo went on exploding and tearing off its substance until, like Krakatoa, it collapses and entirely disappears. If the present eruption does not destroy the mountain, it may in future be everthrown in a more violent explosion than that which destroyed St. Pierre."

The cloud which destroyed the life of everything in St. Pierre probably consisted of carbonic acid gas, steam and volcanic dust.

Carbonic acid gas is the fire-damp of deep wells and caverns, and renders man and other mammals unconscious almost instantly. It is heavier than air, and it accounts for its rapid descent; the mountain side it overflooded the crater and issued from the deep fissures, doubtless caused by the explosion.

A very much fear that the volcanoes of the West Indian Islands are connected in such a way that when the activity of Peleo ceases, there will be a series of outbreaks elsewhere. There are many volcanoes on these islands which have been considered extinct for centuries, are liable to explode at almost any time. Those in Martinique and St. Vincent are at present the safety valves of the entire chain.

Slumbering Monsters of the Caribbean.

The scientists noticed that during the eruptions of Peleo in Martinique and in St. Vincent, nearly all the slumbering monsters of the chain manifested signs of unrest, and no man can say when they will burst into flame and fury.

These cloud capped craters of hundreds of years ago is that they seem to be connected in a chain, and the high peaks of the Soufriere, of St. Lucia, and Pitons, of Dominica, one of which is said to be the highest of all the West Indian volcanoes, have not joined in the terrible demonstrations of Peleo.

Both have thrown up great clouds of smoke or steam since the eruptions began, and the sulphur fumes and spattered lava are said to have galled and scorched threateningly.

The big volcano in Guadeloupe and that in Montserrat are said to be so intimately connected that there is never an earthquake in one of these islands that is not also felt in the other, although it may be imperceptible in the disturbance.

Montserrat's spring song is a musical "trout" compared to the summer song which Dr. Hyatt, weather prognosticator, sang as he sat in his office Tuesday morning.

"Lay aside heavy garments," was the prophet's refrain. "Twill be hot, hotter, hottest. Ere 'tis cooler again."

Tuesday night will witness the change from the chilling vapors which have made open street cars a menace to health and summer gardens deserted villages since Sunday morning.

With the warmth will come partly cloudy and threatening weather, lasting through Wednesday.

Tuesday morning started out at 7 o'clock with a temperature of 84, 4 degrees above Monday.

A "low" barometer is bringing the warm spell from the Northwest. Dr. Hyatt says. While he admits that the Northwest is a funny place for hot weather to come from, he says that the weather will be so like the hot weather which comes from the South that they can be told apart only by experts.

HOT AND SULTRY AT FAIR GROUNDS

Good Weather, However, to Bring Out Speed.

THE SPECULATION WAS LIVELY

Special to the Post-Dispatch. FAIR GROUNDS, ST. LOUIS, June 10.—Authorities on the sport of horse racing say that a horse's speed is fully brought out on a hot day.

The truth of this statement should have been fully illustrated this afternoon, because it was exceedingly hot and sultry when the horses were called to the post in the first race.

There was a large attendance present and speculation was as lively as usual. Silver Garter was scratched in the sixth race, but not at $50.00. The contention deemed to name any definite sum for an adjustment, but offered to meet and arbitrate with the bondholders or any portion of them.

The meeting was made up of the most conservative men and largest taxpayers from every township in the county. The bonds were for $250,000, and were issued in an early day for a railroad that was never built, and the bonds passed into the hands of the county for the purpose of paying the interest or principal, for the reason that the road was never built, and also, as they alleged at the time, that the purchasers were acquainted with the master who came home prize purses. The principal and interest now amounts to over $1,000,000.

Years ago action was brought in the Federal Court to compel the county judges to make a sale of the bonds, but the sale was not made, and the county judges were held in contempt of court. The Federal Court then ordered the county judges to make a sale of the bonds, but the sale was not made, and the county judges were held in contempt of court.

ROCK ISLAND TO USE SUBURBAN'S ROUTE?

Director of Suburban Line Says Deal Is Under Consideration for Steam Road to Build Elevated Tracks Over the Suburban's Right of Way.

TROLLEY LINE TO PRESERVE ITS TRACKS

A director of the St. Louis & Suburban Railroad stated to the Post-Dispatch Tuesday morning that a deal is now under consideration by which the Rock Island Railroad may acquire the use of the Suburban's right-of-way from the western city limits to Vandeventer avenue.

The proposition is that the Rock Island shall build elevated tracks over the surface tracks now used by the Suburban, which will continue to operate its cars over the right-of-way, as heretofore.

The Rock Island would secure a terminal in the land on Morgan street, near Vandeventer avenue, which is the property of the Suburban. Whether the company plans to extend its line to Union Station, could not be learned Tuesday.

A proposition was first made, it is said, for the acquisition of the right of way for the laying of surface tracks by the Rock Island, but the elevated plan was substituted. By the first-named arrangement, the Suburban would have to seek an entirely new route to the West End over city streets, an effort which the line has continued for more than two years past without great success.

ITS OWN RIGHT OF WAY. The Rock Island, through its absorption of the Colorado line, now reaches Forsythe Junction. A short line in the city or in the county would lead to its connection with the Suburban's right-of-way, which runs from Vandeventer avenue west to De Holi-mont.

While the Suburban would not have the right to trans- it to a steam railroad company any part of its rights to run cars in city streets, its directors hold that the right-of-way, being the private property of the line, can be put to any use which is desired.

The directors of the Suburban met Monday afternoon and ratified the plan of action outlined in the Post-Dispatch for the assumption of the bonded indebtedness by the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. and for a bond issue of $7,500,000 for the extension and improvement of the system.

Breaker, Jones and Julius Walsh will be on the new board.

The election of S. M. Kennard as president, and of a new set of officials, has been determined upon, but the time for the formal choice has not been fixed.

Suburban Finances.

The capital stock of the Suburban Railway Co. is $2,500,000 and the bond issue is thus divided: Suburban 5s, $3,000,000; Suburban income bonds, $300,000; Meramec Railway 6s, $1,000,000, and Cable and Western 6s, $200,000.

OPPOSE PHILIPS AS ARBITRATOR

St. Clair Taxpayers Favor a Bond Compromise.

PROPOSITIONS TO HENDERSON ASKED TO NAME SUM UNDER $450,000.

Result of the Meeting of Representative Citizens at Osceola to Devise Way to Lift County's Burden.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. OSCEOLA, Mo., June 10.—The meeting of citizens of St. Clair County held yesterday favored a compromise of the railroad bond indebtedness. A resolution was adopted requesting John B. Henderson, as representative of the county, to name a sum on which they would compromise.

The citizens are opposed to negotiating with John H. Overall, and adopted a resolution declining to allow Judge John F. Phillips to act as arbitrator, claiming that he had prejudged the case. The sentiment of the people is in favor of a compromise, but not at $50,000. The convention deemed to name any definite sum for an adjustment, but offered to meet and arbitrate with the bondholders or any portion of them.

LARGE NUMBER OF CONVERTS ALSO SLAUGHTERED IN SOUTHWESTERN CHINA.

Rebels Reported Well Armed and Ready to Overrun Honan and Shan Tung Provinces and Then March on Peking.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
TAOCOMA, Wash., June 7.—Advices received by the Northern Pacific liner Clavering from Hong Kong, Kobe and Yokohama state that in Southwest China a new Boxer insurrection has broken out, led by Moching, who killed his wife and family, and others emulated the example before the campaign commenced.

The Boxers first murdered a Belgian priest, and 50 Chinese officials engaged in collecting taxes were killed. A church was destroyed at Hsiao Hsiao, where a native missionary was killed and a large number of converts slaughtered.

Troops were sent against the Boxers, who defeated them. The rebels are credited with a program of overrunning Honan and Shan Tung, and then making for Peking. They are well armed.

Peking correspondents say the semiofficial uniformed soldiers of Yuan Shin-Kai, who guarded the imperial cortege en route to the eastern town, created a reign of terror on the way, the villagers taking them for foreign troops. The country people fled as soon as the pennants were seen. News was received that the organization of a police force has been commenced at Wu-chang, and an Englishman, Charles Preston, has been engaged at Shanghai as superintendent. The police will number 60. It has further been decided to organize a police force in Hankow with an American as superintendent.

Correspondents in South China report the defeat of the Kwangsi rebels near Nanning, and the capture of Hung Yung Seng, their leader. The Winchow correspondent of the Hong Kong Telegraph, describing the battle in the hills near Nanning, says:

"From an eye-witness I learn that the affair seems to have been a very bloody encounter. The troops at first were unable to rout the rebels, but with the help of two Maxim and a couple of 12-pounders they forced them to scatter. It was while leading his men and encouraging them against the imperial troops that the leader was wounded by a fragment of shell and captured. He was sent to Canton for punishment and execution."

The Clavering carried the first new crop tea of the season, but it was a very small one. The tea was very good, and was for Chicago. This is the first shipment of tea received here this season and was for immediate transportation. It was also 57 bales of raw silk and 23 cases of curios, also for New York.

HORSE JUMPED FROM TRAIN

Broke an Iron Fence and Wrecked Car
Step but Was Only Slightly Hurt.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
PARSAIC, N. J., June 10.—A Long Island horse that endured the mosquitoes of New Jersey last summer deliberately attempted to gain freedom from them as he was being taken to the country place of T. Sufferer Tallier, son-in-law of the late Pierre Lorillard. The animal, which is one of a team valued at $300, was in a private express car attached to the Middletown Express.

While passing by Franklin Crossing, around the sharp curves, the door of the car suddenly slipped open and the highly sensitive animal, with recollections of last summer's experience, made a wild leap into space. He struck against a fence, and so violent was the impact that the iron broke against the flesh. The horse, making a desperate effort to find its feet, collided with the steps of three passenger coaches, and as a result, these were torn off, as well as some piping.

A small panic was caused in the coaches, as it was feared that the train was about to be wrecked. The horse staggered to the road and was soon in the hands of a nearby veterinarian surgeon, who found that all four shoes had been torn off. There was a small gash in the breast, which is not expected to give any trouble.

The mate of the injured horse was also in the car and attempted to jump when the train stopped, but was held back by the conductor.

THINKS DISEASE IS CURABLE

He Does Not Believe in Seeking Relief
in Climate and States His Reasons.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
DETROIT, Mich., June 6.—Dr. S. A. Knopf of New York at today's session of the National Conference of Charities and Correction read a paper on consumption that has attracted more attention than any other paper given before the conference.

"What Shall We Do With the Consumptive Poor?" was Dr. Knopf's subject. In it he took issue with the United States Marine Hospital authorities, who have pronounced consumption a dangerously contagious disease, argued for the establishment of public sanitariums for consumptives among the poor and the rich, and branded as a fallacy the common belief that certain climates afford an atmosphere that is a specific for the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis.

Prof. Victor C. Vaughan, dean of the University of Michigan, and Frederick Hottel, statistician for the Prudential Insurance Co. of New York, joined Dr. Knopf in the demand for public hospitals for consumptives.

"Tuberculosis is a communicable disease," said Dr. Knopf in opening his address. "But it does not belong to the class of diseases properly called dangerous to the community. The law requires that the bodies of persons dead of tuberculosis must be shipped in tightly sealed metal boxes, and under the law the distribution of tuberculous material will from the smoker to the sleeping tenuous, organized charity workers would be powerless."

Says Disease
Is Curable.
"It is now thoroughly established fact that pulmonary tuberculosis is curable. It is not necessary to transport patients long distances to enable them to breathe the air that is claimed to be a specific for consumption. There is no such specific anywhere. All that is necessary is that the patient shall have an abundance of fresh air and sunshine, and water, and of almost equal necessity is an abundance of nourishing food."

"These, with certain medicinal properties and proper care are about all the necessities for the treatment of the disease. Minnesota supports a state hospital for tuberculosis prisoners in its state penitentiary. Texas has a farm colony for tuberculosis convicts. Neither has any provision for the honest man who may have the disease. Massachusetts has the only state dispensary for the distribution of remedies for tuberculosis."

"Help the poor to help themselves is a great motto of organized charity in America. It can be well applied in almost all cases, but it has no application here. The state must provide well-equipped hospitals for its consumptive poor. The reform movement for crushing out the disease must begin with the destruction of the foul and dark tenement houses of the cities."

Model Tenements.
"Let our philanthropists who have millions to give out for the welfare of the masses stop building libraries and colleges and churches for awhile and devote their munificence to the construction of model tenement houses. The danger of pauperizing the recipients of charity does not exist here. By giving to the struggling laboring man in pure and unadorned and wholesome house to live in, organized charity will only help him to a man among men. The women should be taught to make the home attractive, and the girls in the factories ought to be learning to cook."

"The state ought to insure the poor against loss of health and work and loss of consumption, and this system should pave the way to complete state control of the battle against consumption. The state could make self-supporting, and perhaps even a money-making institution. The greatest work in preventing the spread of consumption is done by taking the children while in the incipient stages of the disease."

Prof. Vaughan made an excited speech. "I join in the praise of our wealthy philanthropists," he said, "but how many thousands of consumptives have been made by these same philanthropists. If there were more justice in this world there would be less need for charity. Not less than 150,000 people are dying of consumption in America this year. There is no other grave disease so easy to cure as consumption."

MISSOURI TRUST CHANGES

Edward H. Gorse, Assistant Secretary
—John C. Wilkinson Has Not Resigned.

Interest in Missouri Trust Co. was evidenced in yesterday's transactions on the Stock Exchange. The recent changes in the personnel of the official staff have been watched by holders of stock and investors for indications of the future policy of this company. A strong element in the advance of the stock yesterday was the announcement that Mr. E. H. Gorse, treasurer of the Missouri Trust Co., had been appointed secretary of the Missouri Trust Co., and that John C. Wilkinson, who has been identified with the trust company since its establishment in St. Louis, had resigned, while the facts are that Mr. Gorse has been appointed assistant secretary.

Mr. Gorse has not tendered his resignation. He will continue his university work as professor of ethics and the philosophy of religion. From Woodson Wilson McCormick of the chair of jurisprudence and politics has been elected to succeed Dr. Patton as president.

The action is said to have been purely precautionary, being inspired because of Dr. Patton's desire to give more of his time to literary work.

The trustees were inclined to insist that Dr. Patton retain the position, but he forethoughtfully declined the statement that he would not serve any longer.

LARGES STATE CARE OF CONSUMPTIVES

SPECIALIST SAYS HOSPITALS
SHOULD BE ESTABLISHED.

THINKS DISEASE IS CURABLE

He Does Not Believe in Seeking Relief
in Climate and States His Reasons.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
DETROIT, Mich., June 6.—Dr. S. A. Knopf of New York at today's session of the National Conference of Charities and Correction read a paper on consumption that has attracted more attention than any other paper given before the conference.

"What Shall We Do With the Consumptive Poor?" was Dr. Knopf's subject. In it he took issue with the United States Marine Hospital authorities, who have pronounced consumption a dangerously contagious disease, argued for the establishment of public sanitariums for consumptives among the poor and the rich, and branded as a fallacy the common belief that certain climates afford an atmosphere that is a specific for the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis.

Prof. Victor C. Vaughan, dean of the University of Michigan, and Frederick Hottel, statistician for the Prudential Insurance Co. of New York, joined Dr. Knopf in the demand for public hospitals for consumptives.

"Tuberculosis is a communicable disease," said Dr. Knopf in opening his address. "But it does not belong to the class of diseases properly called dangerous to the community. The law requires that the bodies of persons dead of tuberculosis must be shipped in tightly sealed metal boxes, and under the law the distribution of tuberculous material will from the smoker to the sleeping tenuous, organized charity workers would be powerless."

Says Disease
Is Curable.
"It is now thoroughly established fact that pulmonary tuberculosis is curable. It is not necessary to transport patients long distances to enable them to breathe the air that is claimed to be a specific for consumption. There is no such specific anywhere. All that is necessary is that the patient shall have an abundance of fresh air and sunshine, and water, and of almost equal necessity is an abundance of nourishing food."

"These, with certain medicinal properties and proper care are about all the necessities for the treatment of the disease. Minnesota supports a state hospital for tuberculosis prisoners in its state penitentiary. Texas has a farm colony for tuberculosis convicts. Neither has any provision for the honest man who may have the disease. Massachusetts has the only state dispensary for the distribution of remedies for tuberculosis."

"Help the poor to help themselves is a great motto of organized charity in America. It can be well applied in almost all cases, but it has no application here. The state must provide well-equipped hospitals for its consumptive poor. The reform movement for crushing out the disease must begin with the destruction of the foul and dark tenement houses of the cities."

Model Tenements.
"Let our philanthropists who have millions to give out for the welfare of the masses stop building libraries and colleges and churches for awhile and devote their munificence to the construction of model tenement houses. The danger of pauperizing the recipients of charity does not exist here. By giving to the struggling laboring man in pure and unadorned and wholesome house to live in, organized charity will only help him to a man among men. The women should be taught to make the home attractive, and the girls in the factories ought to be learning to cook."

The Danger Period for the Nervous and Broken Down in Health is Rapidly
Drawing Nigh.

Paine's Celery Compound

Banishes all Symptoms of Disease and Nourishes the Nervous System.

Paine's Celery Compound has saved thousands of people from nervous prostration and collapse brought on through sleeplessness, weakened nerves, and impoverished blood. The great medicine has made thousands well. It has conquered weakness and ill health when everything else has failed.

This is the time when nervous debility and nervous prostration begin to manifest themselves. The coming hot weather will only add fuel to the fire of suffering and disease.

If there is mental depression, loss of energy, lack of vitality, dullness of the eyes, blanched cheeks and lips, confusion in the head, defective memory, loss of appetite—all these are direct indications of coming nervous collapse and call for the immediate use of that nerve feeder, strength giver and blood enricher, Paine's Celery Compound. This Heaven-sent prescription is a peerless remedy for your dangerous troubles. President T. J. Shaffer, of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of the United States, writes from Pittsburgh, Pa., as follows:—

"In 1899 I was compelled to abandon my profession because of nervous prostration consequent upon exposure, hard study and overwork. A number of physicians declared I would never recover, but I tried Paine's Celery Compound, and in less than a year increased in weight from 141½ to 215 pounds. During the recent strike of the Steel Workers, finding myself ready to collapse, and fearing a recurrence of my former trouble, I returned to my former friend, Paine's Celery Compound, and already am feeling more vigorous and able to meet and discharge the duties of my office."

FIELD'S BIRTHTablet Placed on the Wrong

BROTHER OF EUGENE FIELD DIS-COVERED THE MISTAKE.The House at No. 634 Broadway Where the Bronze Was Fixed Is Not the Right Building According to Authorities.EUGENE FIELD'S BIRTHPLACE

Eugene Field was born Sept. 2, 1850 at St. Louis City Directory for 1851 shows that Roswell M. Field, father of Eugene Field, resided during that year at 28 Collins street.
The recorder's files show that Roswell M. Field was married to Frances Maria Reed May 21, 1848, by Rev. A.
Bullard, pastor First Presbyterian Church.
The city directories for 1848, 1849 and 1850, as well as 1851, show that Roswell Field's address was 28 Collins street.
The City Directory for the following years shows that he removed to the Broadway address, where the poet tablet announcing it as Field's birthplace was recently unveiled.

Eugene Field was not born in the three-story brick house at 634 South Broadway, despite the fact that a bronze tablet fitted into the front wall of that structure so announces.

He was born in a house on Collins street,
between Franklin avenue and Carr street.
The exact number of the house, according to the system of numbering in vogue a half century ago, was 28 Collins street.
Which of the houses now standing on Collins street just north of Franklin avenue was No. 28 1/2 years ago when the poet was born and Franklin avenue was Cherry street is not a matter of municipal record.

John E. Haggerty, who has lived at what is now numbered 941 Collins street for 35 years, says that the house now numbered 613 Collins street is the house in which Field was born.

The Mistake Discovered.

It is a two-story brick, painted a dark red. It has green shutters. The house is now vacant. Its next door neighbor is an iron company's store.

Roswell Field of Chicago, brother of the late poet, is responsible for the discovery that a mistake was made by the friends of Eugene Field when they hit upon the idea of perpetuating his memory by em-blazing the front of the Broadway house with an inscription that it was "Gene's" place.

In a published communication from him on the subject, he referred to the recent unveiling of the tablet in the presence of the Rochambeau party, and said that the presence of Mark Twain was highly fitting
"so humorous an occasion."

Then he said that his father, the late Roswell M. Field, had told him that Eugene was born on Collins street, and had once pointed out the house to him.

The city directories of St. Louis for the years in the neighborhood of the last half century mark bear out Roswell Field's contention.
There is no record at the City Hall of the date of Eugene Field's birth, but, assuming the generally accredited date to be correct, Sept. 2, 1850, he could not have been born at 634 South Broadway.

Was Born in Collins Street.

The city directories of 1848, 1849, 1850 and 1851 contain the name of Roswell Field, and give his address as 28 Collins street.
In the city directory of 1852, his address appears as Broadway, between Poplar and Carr streets.

This shows that the directory published at least several months after Eugene Field's birth gives his father's residence on Collins street.

The marriage of Roswell Field took place in 1848. The recorder's files show that he was married May 21 to Miss Frances Maria Reed by Rev. A. Bullard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

An old resident is responsible for the statement that Miss Reed lived on one side of Collins street and Mr. Field on the other, and that after the marriage Field moved from one side of the street to the other.

Mr. Haggerty says he does not remember any family named Reed on the street, but that he does remember Mr. Field. The directory shows that Mr. Field, Sr., was a lawyer. The directory for 1845 gives his office at 44 Chestnut street, but does not state his address. Commencing in 1848, the directory gives his office at the same place, but his residence as 28 Collins street.

"I remember that Mr. Field moved into the old Garrison residence," said Mr. Haggerty to the Post-Dispatch Tuesday. "The Mr. Garrison that lived there was the father of Commodore Garrison and other sons, all of whom were well known in St.
Louis later."

Born on East Side of Street.

"I remember it was about the time of the Mexican war that he and his sons, who lived on Collins street, near Carr, bought a tract out west near the street now called Garrison avenue, and moved out there.
Then Field moved into his house. I don't remember whether he rented it or bought it. But I know he lived there."

"Twenty-eight is an even number, and the even numbers then, as they are now, were on the east side of the street. So the house Field was born in could not have been 941 or any house on the west side of Collins street."

"Collins street was the Grand avenue of St. Louis in those days," Mr. Haggerty continued. "The house that I live in now was formerly the residence of Samuel Gaty. He bought it from Montgomery Blair. He was the father of Gen. Frank P. Blair. Frank P. Blair was born in the house I now live in. Montgomery Blair sold the house to Samuel Gaty when (he Blair) was appointed postmaster-general of the United States by President Tyler."

"Dr. Perry, Dr. Mortimer, a man named McKee, the Garriens and Charles Collins, whom the street is named after, all lived on Collins street when Eugene Field's father died."

Laclede School Picnic.

The annual picnic of the Laclede School, situated on Poplar street, will be held Thursday, June 12, at Monticello Park.
The children will march from the school to the boat at the foot of Spruce street.
George D. Rex will act as grand marshal.

MYSTIC SHRINERS

FRANCISCO STREETS.*IMPERIAL COUNCIL MEETSAnnual Message to the Pilgrims Delivered by Potentate Shaffer Showing Order's Prosperity.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10.—The Imperial council of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine began its twenty-eighth annual session this morning. The meeting was preceded by a parade. It included about 1500 nobles, some of them mounted and many in picturesque Oriental attire. Grand Marshal R. P. Hur-but, with his staff and aids, rode in the lead, immediately followed by a mounted bugle corps. Then came a body of men all in white, except their red feet and flowing white capes, forming a strong contrast to the black horses they rode. Another body of aides preceded a band which played weird eastern music, to which marched the Arab Patrol. Then came a succession of bands and gorgeously attired nobles on foot and on horseback. At intervals the various drum corps performed bewildering evolutions and were enthusiastically cheered by the thousands of spectators who lined the sidewalks.

The Denver band and drum corps preceded a carriage drawn by four black horses, in which rode Imperial Potentate
Shaffer and Imperial Deputy Potentate Field. A long line of carriages followed containing the delegates to the imperial council and their guests. The parade closed at 10 o'clock.

The open session of the imperial council was begun with prayer and music. Illustrious Potentate Charles H. Murphy, on behalf of the California nobles, welcomed the pilgrims to the western oasis and Mayor Scamitz spoke for San Francisco, extending the freedom of the city. The council then went into secret session.

The committee on credentials made its report and standing committees were appointed. Imperial Potentate Shaffer then delivered his annual message to the imperial council on the condition of the order in North America and its progress during the past year. The record of the past year is the proudest in the history of the order, showing a gain of 3000 nobles in the jurisdiction, with 90 temples in the United States, two in Canada and one in Hawaii. The increase in the finances is the largest known in the order. While no new temples have been instituted during the past year, applications are on hand for new temples from Galveston, Tex., Baltimore, Md., and Santito, Wash.

Reports from the treasurer, recorder and the standing committees were all gratifying. Saratoga Springs, N. Y., will be the next meeting place of the imperial council.
The election of officers is not expected to occur until tomorrow. In accordance with their long custom, Deputy Imperial Potentate Cuth Alken of Omaha, will be chosen imperial potentate without opposition.

AT A. O. H. MEETING*Many Local Athletes Entered for the Track and Field Events.

Entries to the annual games and field
sports of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, which will take place at the Fair Grounds next Sunday, closed Saturday.

Messrs. Byrne and O'Connor, who are in charge of the athletic program, state that all the crack local athletes have entered for the different events. Included in the list are the leading performers developed at the local schools and colleges and turn-verines.

The management is now figuring on an automobile race to take place in the amphitheater.
The policemen and firemen will select their teams for the big relay race this week. This event will be once around the amphitheater and each of the departments will be represented by four of its best sprinters.

leum erected to the memory of the late

HENO ARRIVES AT CHICAGO.The Great Derby Favorite Had a Special Car and Was in Good Shape.

CHICAGO, June 10.—Clarence Mackay's great Derby colt, Heno, arrived at Washington Park today in his special car, which was attached to the Pennsylvania's fast mail.
Heno is the favorite at 4 to 1 in the winter books to win the greatest of western horse races, June 22.
He was unloaded at once and acted more like a big draft horse used to being hauled around than a thoroughbred race horse.
He seemed entirely unaffected by car sickness.

THEY STEAL THERMOMETERS.Natives of Guatemala Swallow the Mercury for Liver Trouble.

From Pearson's Weekly.
"If you want to keep a thermometer in Guatemala you have to set a guard over it," said a traveler who had just returned from a visit to Central America. "It's a fact, I assure you. Shortly before I started for some I made a trip from Buenos Aires to Guatemala City."

"The weather was brilliant hot, and when we got to Guatemala, which is about the largest town on the road, I thought I see what the temperature really was. So I strolled out of the hotel to obtain a thermometer, and after a long search
I found one hanging on a porch of a residence.
By my attention it was surrounded by a cage of wire netting, heavy enough to hold a young bear. It was a cheap thermometer, not worth more than 25 shillings, and such a precaution seemed all the more remarkable because petty household pilfering is practically unknown in that country."
"I found out during my stay that the reason for this precaution is that the people suffer from liver trouble, and regard mercury as a specific. How the belief became current goodness only knows."

"It is in this country that all sorts of Chinese delicacies are kept for sale, and whenever the colony has a big spread or goes out to the Chinese country to 'feed the dead,' the proprietor does a land office business. Among the delicacies kept are, to be had in this place, as dried shark fin, edible bird's nests, ducks stuffed and dried after a peculiar and secret recipe, and

DEFI TO SPORTING WRITERSPost-Dispatch Engravers Would Like a Game With the Team of Scribes.

The fame of the sporting writers baseball team still grows. Through a judicious alliance between Oscar Miller and Umpire Langdon the enemy have been beaten off in every contest of the season. The latest victory was that of Sunday when the auditors learn from the city hall was distributed over the field at League Park.
There, from their baseball teams, however,
The Post-Dispatch engravers have team that they think can take the measure of the reporters' team.

BIRD'S NESTS AND DRIED DUCKS.All Sorts of Celestial Delicacies at the Chinese Grocery Store.

From the Washington Post.
One of the institutions of this city that has grown up in quite recent years is a Chinese grocery, located on Pennsylvania avenue, between Third and Fourth-and-a-half streets. The store is conducted by a dignified and middle-aged Chinaman, who used to conduct a store in Langdon, and who has very much the air of a host man. It is operated for the benefit of the local Chinese colony, though the proprietor does not refuse to wait upon a "Mickan" customer whenever he drops in.

It is in this grocery that all sorts of Chinese delicacies are kept for sale, and whenever the colony has a big spread or goes out to the Chinese country to "feed the dead," the proprietor does a land office business. Among the delicacies kept are, to be had in this place, as dried shark fin, edible bird's nests, ducks stuffed
and dried after a peculiar and secret recipe, and

FORTUNE EARNED BY QUADRUPLTS

Ormsby Babies Have Arisen
From Poverty to Wealth.

FINE MUSEUM ATTRACTIONS

INCOME SINCE LAST NOVEMBER
HAS BEEN $25,000.

Mother, Who Was Recently Divorced on Desertion Charge, Manages Them and Expects to Make $30,000 This Year.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, June 10.—Touring the country with a cradle full of babies, Mrs. Joseph Ormsby, mother of the famous Chicago quadruplets, has won fortune and fame.

Born in a poorly furnished cottage at 406 West Forty-third street, the four tiny fortune-makers were moved yesterday to a fine new $5000 home near Washington Park. The father, who disappeared from home July 18 last, has never been heard of, but his four infants have brought a fortune of $25,000 and an assurance of at least $400 per week for the next year to the mother, whose offspring have become one of the best museum attractions since the days of the aristocracy. Mrs. Ormsby has become a dictator of terms to museum managers. With money pouring in faster than she can count it, she bids fair to become the female Barnum of the 20th century.

Her income enable her to live in splendid style. She owns a team and the carriage for which she recently paid $500. Two French nurses are paid good wages to look after the quadruplets, who are dressed in the finest fabrics that money made easily can buy. The other seven children of the family are given everything that they wish for, and the name Ormsby bids fair to be added to the list of the aristocracy. Mrs. Ormsby has become a dictator of terms to museum managers. With money pouring in faster than she can count it, she bids fair to become the female Barnum of the 20th century.

Rose From

Poverty to Wealth.

When the quadruplets were born Sept. 29 last, care of the family devolved upon the neighbors. Joseph Ormsby, the father, who was a perpetual motion enthusiast, had forsaken his gear wheels and quicksilver tubes and departed for parts unknown. He was the father of 10 children, two pairs of twins, and two sets of triplets. He has never been seen since.

The absence of the father and the dire straits into which the family was thrown brought many contributions of money from charitable inclined persons. Things looked dismal until one day when the infants were four weeks old a museum manager called at the Ormsby home.

The next day Mrs. Ormsby and the babies were photographed. The entire front of a Clark street museum was hung with a glaring announcement of the coming exhibition of the "quads." When the babies were placed on public view thousands crowded to see them.

Money rolled into the museum treasury and Mrs. Ormsby's financial position improved fast as they could be made. Altogether the pictures have netted her a profit of $3000, and she has been paid more than $15,000 in salaries. Several thousand dollars were given her by sympathizing persons all over the country.

With prosperity came an independent spirit, and Mrs. Ormsby left her managers and started out alone. Several Minnesota cities added $500 each to her riches. A photograph of the quadruplets graces every album from Winona to Duluth.

Dictates Terms

to the Managers.

Recently she signed a contract for six months at $300 per week. In addition to this the money from the sale of the babies' photographs goes to her. She dictates the terms of the contract, setting the time she shall exhibit the offspring, and gives orders to her own coachman, who wears a shiny hat and a coat with large brass buttons. Since signing the contract Mrs. Ormsby has received an average of $1000 a week for an indefinite engagement. Another of $100 a week came from Boston, and the South is just as willing to pay handsomely for a view of the quadruplets. Her manager says that the babies will be a standing attraction throughout the country for at least a year, and that the mother will make not less than $30,000 in that time.

Nobody knows the whereabouts of the father. His little grocery and plumbing shop on Forty-third street is closed. His perpetual-motion apparatus lies in the attic of his former home. He worked hard for a living when at home, but two pairs of twins and two sets of triplets were too much for Ormsby and he left home.

In doing so he forsook a comfortable fortune and walked the floor at midnight with the infants. Both tasks formerly were Ormsby's. This is what he ran away from. Mrs. Ormsby was granted a divorce from her husband about a week ago.

CHANGE IN RATES TO ASIATIC PORTS

AFFECTS BUSINESS FROM INTERIOR POINTS OF UNITED STATES.

TACOMA, Wash., June 10.—Steamship companies to Asia have adopted a new schedule of rates on outward bound trans-Pacific business. It applies to traffic from interior points of the United States to regular Japanese and Chinese ports of call. Only three or four changes are noted in the new schedule.

The new rates went into effect June 1, and supersede schedule "K," which took effect February 6. The rate on ginseung has been raised from $5.50 per ton to $6, from Atlantic seaboard territory and points west. Railroad rates and shovels, spades and scoops are new items in the schedule. The former are rated at 50 cents per 100 pounds, and the latter at $1. The arbitraries beyond ports of call show a general reduction in rates.

The regular ports of call are Yokohama, Kobe, Nagasaki, Shanghai and Hong Kong. The new schedule affects the Portland & Asiatic Steamship line, Northern Pacific Steamship Co., Occidental and Oriental Steamship Co., Pacific Mail Steamship Co., Nippon Yusen Kaisha and Toyo Kisen Kaisha.

The Northern Pacific Oriental liner Glenogle cleared at the customs house for Yokohama and Hong Kong. The Glenogle's cargo is valued at $32,534, and consists of a large consignment of domestics for Shanghai and 562 barrels of flour, valued at $5,556, for Yokohama, besides miscellaneous cargo, including electrical machinery, 20 bicycles, beer, furniture, cotton, and other usual articles of export consigned to the usual points in Japan and China. The ship's cargo is valued at $37,125. This is a smaller shipment than that made on the Olympia, which sailed on May 15, but the two shipments together amount to 12,212 bales, or 5,704,600 yards, valued at $47,481.

OR is a little word, but gigantic in possibilities.

Success, happiness, practically all of the good things of life, depend on good health. Most of the failures, the woes of life, rest their origin and cause in bad health. The possibilities represented by the OR in "Good Health or Bad Health" certainly are gigantic, aren't they? Proper food, more than any one other thing, represents the difference between good health or bad health.

Any physician will tell you that a proper mixture of the whole of the wheat and barley malt is pre-eminently a proper food, one that builds normally, tones evenly, nourishes sufficiently every organ of the body.

"FORCE" is composed of the whole of the wheat and barley malt scientifically combined in the form of a delicate, crisp flake. It cannot lose its good qualities in faulty cooking, for it is ready to be put on the table when it reaches the house.

There's another OR worth considering—a hot kitchen fire on a hot summer day. On the kitchen fire.
